

Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; his love endures forever.

Let them give thanks to the Lord for his unfailing love and his wonderful deeds for mankind, for he satisfies the thirsty and fills the hungry with good things.

Psalm 107: 1, 8-9

“Blessings In Abundance”

Thanksgiving is one of those national holidays that is easy for a preacher to love. After all, from the very beginning, Thanksgiving has always been religious. Only secondarily did this religious celebration become a national observance, one to remind our nation of its abundance, its blessings, and to call it to a God-given ability to be generous.

The first Thanksgiving in Plymouth is now a foundational part of our national identity, with school children still reenacting a feast shared by pilgrims and Native Americans. The exact date is unclear, but likely it happened sometime between the end of September and the beginning of November, 1621.

This event was not observed again for some years. It was 1630, when the Massachusetts Bay Colony documents show that Gov. John Winthrop noted, “We kept a day of thanksgiving in all the plantations.”

It was in bitter weather and open fields, on their way to Valley Forge, that George Washington and his army observed a day of Thanksgiving. Then, as the nation's first President, Washington declared November 26, 1789, a national day of “thanksgiving and prayer.” He voiced his personal conviction that “it is the duty of all Nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God.”

(Historical information found at: https://www.theholidayspot.com/thanksgiving/national_holiday.htm)

In 1817 New York State adopted Thanksgiving Day as an annual custom. By the middle of the 19th century many other states did the same. But only in 1863, when Abraham Lincoln issued a National Proclamation, did Thanksgiving become a National Holiday. It was observed on the last Thursday in November, likely to recall the anchoring of the Mayflower at Cape Cod.

Only with Franklin D. Roosevelt, did Thanksgiving come to be established on the 4th Thursday in November, an action ratified by Congress in 1941.

You will see, it took our nation some time to give Thanksgiving its proper and profound place in the regular observation and life of our nation. And my question, as a pastor and preacher: “Are we Christians sometimes like our young nation—blessed, god-fearing, overflowing with abundance and promise, and while thankful for all our blessings, yet slow to establish Thanksgiving as a ritual and routine in our personal lives?”

And, in our case, I am not talking about turkey and table—the feasts set by you for your families are some of the finest to be found anywhere! But what feast do we set for the children of God? (Think of Safe Haven and UMCOR [United Methodist Commission on Relief]!) What thanksgiving do we practice in our own lives? Has it taken us some time to establish a tradition of sharing our gifts through the ministry of St. Luke's? Is our thanksgiving and sharing seasonal, or have we, like our nation, come to a point where we try to model a hospitality born of plenty and the graciousness first shown to us—as Jesus says, “. . . from those to whom much is given, much is expected.”

On the verge of Thanksgiving, with Advent and Christmas before us, may our national observance of Thanksgiving and gift-giving be only reflections of a personal practice rooted in our lives, and established through faith, by a God who gave us Jesus Christ and, with Him, all things!

May God give to you abundantly, that you may abundantly give, not for a day, but for a lifetime!

Happy Thanksgiving, your whole life long! Pastor Lisa

Mercy House

WHEN THREE RESIDENTS OF MERCY HOUSE, a local ministry almost literally in our backyard, came to testify in worship on September 30, we learned firsthand what courage looks like. All have overcome heroin addiction, and their descriptions of trials and tribulations, of personal tragedy and triumph, were more than most of us could imagine. All were in that small percentage that beat addiction through the Mercy House faith-based recovery program. There was not a dry eye in the sanctuary, and much praise do we give to God, for these wonderful young women who have turned their lives around and are now helping others do the same. We look forward to discerning how we can support this program that brings hope and new life to those who have faced such despair.

The Dillard Forum at Trinity UMC, 903 Forest Avenue, Richmond, 23229 welcomes the Rev. Tom Berlin on Sunday, November 11 @ 7 PM and Monday, November 12 @ 12 noon and 7 PM. Please refer to the attached brochure.

Rev. Berlin will talk about UMC at a Crossroads. He will lead us in considering not only the possibilities of what may happen at the special session of the General Conference in February 2019, but even more the questions beneath the possibilities over issues of inclusion of LGBTQ persons in the United Methodist Church. These questions are also relevant for faithful Christians of all traditions and indeed for all persons interested in the relationship between faith, culture, and justice.

If you plan to attend the session at 12 noon on Monday, November 12, we ask that you call Trinity at 804-288-6056 to reserve a lunch.
